

Q Max

Q Max is a daily micronutrient complex of 36 vitamins, minerals, and amino acids—including the methyl forms of vitamin B12 and folate—that delivers essential nutritional support at the cellular level for maximum results.*

Micronutrients for Maximum Results

Nearly half of the population has a genetic trait known as the MTHFR gene that affects proper methylation. This means that your genes either “turn on” or “turn off” because of lack of certain B vitamins. Q Max includes the methyl forms of these essential micronutrients to ensure proper nutrient absorption by everyone. To further increase bioavailability, each capsule undergoes a 96-hour preparation where the minerals are ground into nanoparticles so your body really absorbs them. This process—called micronization and chelation—increases absorption for maximum uptake in the brain and body. And because crucial micronutrients are deficient in even the healthiest of diets, now, more than ever before, you need supplementation to off-set nutritional insufficiency and deficiency. Q Max has the right balance of micronutrients your body requires to deliver maximum benefits.*

Features:

- Contains a well-balanced blend of 36 vitamins, minerals, and amino acids for complete, whole-body health.*
- A unique 96-hour micronization and nano-chelation process increases bioavailability for maximum nutrient absorption at the cellular level.*
- The methyl forms of vitamin B12 and folate are more easily absorbed and utilized by the body.*
- Formulated to also provide essential nutritional support to the brain for improved cognition and overall brain health and function.*

Suggested Use: Take two capsules twice per day on average. Store in a cool, dry place.
